

BollyWood Restaurant in Nueva Andalucía has to be the most popular Indian cuisine restaurants here in Marbella. It's astounding to see the client base the owners have generated and built upon in the 8 months of trading. According to them, the failsafe way in keeping these loyal customers returning is to provide a good honest service, give the customers what they want, listen to any feedback and implement any changes. Often there are the times that you pop in to collect your take-away and friends of yours are dining in the restaurant and being charmed by the staff. The owners and staff have a lifetime of experience in the restaurant business and have the passion and vision needed to succeed. Their Indian chef alone has 15 years of hands on experience in 5* hotels in India. This evidences in their extensive menu, which boasts authentic recipes, Indian dishes and curries. Their signature dishes include a goan curry with fish and prawn, kadai and classic bhunas. The restaurant offers great quality food at extremely reasonable prices. With future plans to expand in new and innovative ways, the BollyWood success story is set to grow and grow. The guys are naturally reluctant to say what exactly so we suggest you go there for a quality dining experience and ask them yourselves.
